

Apply yourself to the Quantum Future.

PhD in Quantum Science & Engineering at Harvard

An innovative PhD program for students with a bachelor's degree in Computer Science, Physics, Engineering, or Chemistry.

Boldly explore where the future is heading. The Harvard Quantum Science and Engineering (QSE) PhD program uniquely prepares you to create the quantum science and technologies of tomorrow.

Be supported in an exciting, inclusive environment built to help you thrive – not only guided by the breadth and depth of Harvard's world-class, integrated QSE curriculum, but also by our leading-edge fundamental and applied research community.

Work with world leaders in the field of QSE. Specialize in your area of interest while collaborating with peers from related disciplines. Gain the knowledge to advance the science and engineering of quantum systems and their applications.

Get ready to lead and meet the rising demand for QSE roles in industry, academia, education, or research.

Learn more and apply.

Application deadline is December 15, 2021, 5 p.m. EST.
